Keota Nursing Home Named to List of Nation's Worst Care Facilities

By Clark Kauffman Iowa Capitol Dispatch

The federal government has resumed its practice of disclosing to the public its list of the nation's worst nursing homes — and four Iowa homes have been added to that list.

Prior to President Donald Trump taking office in January, the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services had, for 17 years, published a monthly, national list of so-called Special-Focus Facilities. The list was comprised of nursing homes that had experienced a serious recurrence of major regulatory violations related to quality of

Once a home was designated a Special-Focus Facility, it received additional oversight and assistance from the government that's intended to improve resident care.

At any given time, no more than two nursing homes per state were designated a Special-Focus Facility, although the federal list also included hundreds of other nursing homes whose quality-of-care violations made them eligible for enrollment in the program.

After Trump took office, CMS suspended the publication of monthly updates to the list, presumably because of a directive that barred CMS and other federal agencies from issuing any statements or reports to the press or public that hadn't first been cleared by the White

Recently, CMS posted its first update to the list in 2025. It shows that during the 2025 moratorium on updates, four

Iowa nursing homes were added to list of facilities that are considered eligible for special-focus status: Accura Healthcare of Pleasantville, Aspire of Perry, Clarion Wellness and Rehabilitation Center, and Harvest Acres Nursing and Rehabilitation Center in Keota.

The two Iowa care facilities that are not only eligible for special-focus status, but are actually enrolled in the program and receiving additional oversight and guidance, are unchanged from last in Mount Pleasant, which has been in the program for two full years; and Aspire of Gowrie, which has been in the program for a year and a

In addition to the four Iowa homes added to the eligibility list, there are six Iowa care facilities that remain on the list from 2024 when it was last updated: Garden View Care Center in Shenandoah, which has been on the eligibility list for four months; Greater Southside Health and Re-year. They are Arbor Court habilitation in Des Moines, which has been on the list for 32 months; Harmony West in West Des Moines, which has been on the list for 17 months; The Ivy in Davenport, which has been on the list for 18 months; Pine Acres Rehabilitation and Care Center in West Des Moines, which has been on the list for 12 months; and Via of Des Moines, which has been on the list for 12 months.

Harvest Acres Nursing and Rehabilitation Center of Keota (Formerly called Keota Health Care Center)

This 35-bed facility is managed by Mission Health of Florida, according to state records. In the past two years, Harvest Acres has been cited for a total of 45 state and federal violations.

In November 2024, the home was cited for 32 violations. At the time, the state proposed, but held in suspension, five separate fines totaling $21,000. The fines were tied to alleged incidents of resident abuse, failure to

New Sigourney Pediatric Clinic Holds Ribbon Cutting

By Casey Jarmes The News-Review

SIGOURNEY - Wee Care Pediatrics, a new pediatric clinic in Sigourney, held a ribbon cutting on April 11. The clinic, which offers wellness checks, immunizations, and helps with mental health issues, opened early January. It is located at 122 S Main St. in Sigourney, next to Brothers Market. Wee Care is coowned by Lara Davis and nurse practitioner Stacy Crill.

"Our son, Ari, was the reason we opened it," said Davis. "He's autistic and Stacy is the one who diagnosed him. Got us all the help we needed. So I've been trying really hard to get her to do this for a couple years, and so finally she agreed and I ran with it...She helped our family, we'd love to help Southeast Iowa."

"It takes three years to fully build a practice, but we are getting patients seen, and we've actually seen some from Keota, North English, What Cheer. So we're reaching further places even," said Crill.

"It's slow, but every week we pick up more," said Davis. "I think it was just to get the word out, what Stacy specializes in, and so far so good."

Keota Council Puts Fee on Houses Without Water

By Casey Jarmes The News-Review

KEOTA - During the April 7 meeting of the Keota City Council, the council amended city ordinances to add a minimum fee for water, even at houses that have had their water shut off. City Administrator Alycia Horras explained that the previous city ordinances did state that the city should charge a minimum fee of $46.61 for water service, but that the city had not been charging properties that had their water service shut off. Under the new ordinances, all properties, including those that have had their water shut off, either voluntarily or involuntarily, will be required to pay a minimum of $75 each month. Horras stated this would not affect any residents that have active water service.

Councilman Curt Burroughs stated that a lot of houses in town had been bought by people who kicked out residents then shut the water off, resulting in properties that formerly paid a water bill now not paying. He estimated that there were 20 vacant houses in town that met this description, which is an issue, because those properties are no longer contributing to paying off the loan the city took out to build the lagoon. He stated that the city has had to levy more on other residents to generate revenue. Burroughs stated that, in his perspective, this change was not directed at any individual and was aimed at all the houses the city was not getting revenue from.

The amended water ordinances also change the fee to temporarily shut off water to a property or restore water to a property from $7.50 to $50. Horras stated this would not apply to people who need to turn their water off for a few days while doing renovations and was aimed at people who leave town for six months. The council approved these amendments and waved the second and third readings. The council also approved amending waste ordinances to change the recycling fee from $8 to $10.

Although these ordinance changes apply to all Keota residents with their water shut off, discussion of changing the ordinances at the previous city council meeting on March 15 emerged from discussion of one particular resident who had been feuding with the city. Joel Ackerman, a local man who the city council had discussed extensively during the March 3 and March 17 meetings, following a pair of incidents involving Ackerman's dogs killing other animals, used the public forum time at the beginning of the Monday meeting to air his grievances with the council. In a profanity-filled rant, Ackerman called the city council a "kangaroo court" and claimed they had stepped on his civil rights. He asserted that the council meetings, where the mayor and council discussed the incidents and approved issuing fines, which Ackerman has the right to contest in municipal court, had effectively acted as municipal court. He claimed he had been denied due process, because he had not been notified of the "hearing" or given legal counsel prior to the city council meeting.

Ackerman claimed that Councilman Mike Bender's dog had run loose the previous Saturday and said that Bender needed to be fined as well. Bender interjected to say that he had already requested he be fined by the city. Ackerman claimed that he had been harassed in pub-

Sigourney STEM Students Show Photos of Trip to Board

By Casey Jarmes |

The News-Review SIGOURNEY - During the April 9 meeting of the Sigourney School Board, the board talked to Mindy Jensen, Bronson McCulley and some of their STEM students about their March STEM trip. 22 students went on the six-day trip to New York and Boston. The students shared photos and talked about their experiences. McCully stated that he polled the students after the trip and that all of them loved it, felt safe, and would do it again if they could. Jensen stated she would like to do another similar trip, possibly to DC and New York, in 2027 and every two years after that. "It is a great learning experience," said Jensen. "Many of them hadn't even been out of Iowa, let alone seen the diversity out there, tried the different foods, learned about all the

The board also met with historical places we went."

Pat Westby from SitelogIQ, who gave an update on the status of the Community Facility Advisory Committee which will advise the school board on what priorities to focus on during the planned infrastructure secondary renovations. He explained that the committee had toured the elementary, to see the work done in the first stage of the project, the jr/sr high school, to see what work needed to be done, and Central Lee high school, who had done similar renovations. He stated that, the day after the meeting, he would be meeting with staff and students to receive their input. Westby explained that the committee was drilling down their priorities prior to the May 14 school board meeting, where they will make their recommendation. He stressed that the committee would just give recommendations for priorities, not projects, and that final decision would be up to the board. Hatfield brought up the recently announced 2% increase in State Supplemental Aid, the funding schools receive from the state, saying "It's about two months too late for it. They said the SSA is going to be 2%, which is not really enough for our public school kids. Inflation alone is 3.9%. It bothers me, but it's the trend we've been on. We try to make it work." He also spoke out against the increases in state money for Educational Savings Accounts, which pay taxpayer dollars towards private schools, saying "I don't feel comfortable giving public dollars to places that don't have to follow the same rules we do. Just my personal opinion. I'm not opposed to choice, I'm not opposed to anything, but I personally believe it's creating a huge issue, and will end up creating huge issues down the road to fund this stuff."

Work Based Learning Coordinator Jenny Bell gave a brief overview of the district's District Career Academic Plan, which gives students information on career paths and helps them decide what they want to do before paying to attend college. Hatfield stated that it is his goal next year to establish a new position that spends half its time teaching STEM and half teaching Work Based Learning; he noted that this position will likely also coordinate with special education, allowing special ed dollars to go towards the cost.

Hatfield presented the board with a service agreelic and by Councilman Keith Conrad, calling comments by Conrad "abuse of the first ammendment." Cornad interjected to ask what abuse he had done. Ackerman stated it was public record. Conrad began to say that he had just told the public about Ackerman's dogs killing things, before being reminded by Burroughs that council members are not supossed to respond to the public forum. Ackerman said he was initially angry at coverage by the News-Review about the March council meetings, but was now glad that it recorded word for word "the trash that comes out of your mouths."

At this point, Mayor Tony Cansler cut Ackerman off, informing him his two minutes were up. The Keota City Council has notably been less strict about the two-minute time limit in the past. According to the audio tapes recorded by the News-Review, Ackerman began speaking at 3:01 and was cut off at 5:13, after 132 seconds of speaking. During the March 3 meeting, when the Wulf brothers described how Ackerman's dogs attacked and killed their father's dog, one brother spoke from 1:30 to 6:14, 284 seconds, and the other spoke from 6:25 to 10:12, 227 seconds. Neither Wulf was cut off. At the end of the April 7 meeting, Cansler told Ackerman he was free to put his concerns in writing and send it to the city and that he would respond to it.

Also at the Monday meeting, the council approved purchasing a $50,661 work truck from Vaughn Automotive, with a snowplow and five-year warranty. Public works director Micah Harmsen explained that the current city work truck is 22-years-old and doesn't need more hard years and that having two trucks will allow the city to clear snow quicker.

ment for the Great Prairie AEA for $99,000 of service that the district will need this year, to help the AEA plan its budget. He stated that the district can purchase more service from the AEA as needed with the remaining $100,000 in service money the district has left. He stated he felt bad for the AEA, because they do great work for the district and the district isn't sending as much money this year, but that the state had forced their hand. He noted that, if Sigourney didn't have the AEA to provide service for autistic children, for example, they would have to pay heavy fees to other organizations. He noted that the service agreement features AI training, library, science and mental health services.

Blackbeard and Piracy

Memories Of A Former Kid. MugWump Marketing (319) 800-4774

THE HISTORICAL VIEWPOINT

During this war, the English government paid privateers to attack and rob Spanish ships as part of the war effort. When the war ended, thousands of newly unemployed privateers kept doing what they had been doing, now preying on English ships as well.

One of the most prominent privateers turned pirates, Benjamin Hornigold, helped seize control of Nassau in the Bahamas, transforming it into a stronghold for piracy. Blackbeard first enters the historical record in 1716, working as Hornigold's righthand man and commanding a captured sloop (a smaller, single mast boat) as part of his fleet. Together, Hornigold and Blackbeard raided ship after ship.

In September, 1717, Blackbeard and Hornigold met Stede Bonnet, a wealthy plantation owner who dealt with a midlife crisis by buying a ship, hiring a crew, and becoming a pirate. Bonnet was bumbling and incompetent, which Blackbeard exploited, convincing Bonnet's crew to get rid of Bonnet and put Blackeard in charge of his ship, the Revenge, which was added to Hornigold's fleet. Bonnet remained aboard Blackbeard's ship, as a spectator.

This is a good segway into how 18th century pirate crews actually worked. Pirate crews were democratic, with the captain elected, and the crew able to vote out any captain that was cowardly or cruel. This, like the tendency to avoid battle through intimidation, was less a sign of morality, and more an inevitability of pragmatism. On British military vessels, if you overthrew a terrible captain, another British ship would chase down, court martial and likely hang you for your crime. Pirate captains had to accept the votes of their crews, because otherwise, their crews would kill them.

Captains were not the sole authority aboard ships. Captains were in charge of leading battles, while quartermasters managed the day-to-day operations and the crew. Pirate crews began their voyages by writing out pirate codes which listed the rules of the ship and what shares of loot were allotted to each crew member, with captains and quartermasters generally given a double share.

In November, 1717, the fleet attacked a captured French slave ship, La Concorde, making it their flagship. Around the same time, Hornogold was overthrown as captain, leading him to retire. Blackbeard, now in charge, rechristened La Concorde as Queen Anne's Revenge and continued piracy, raiding ships and expanding his flotilla.

In May, 1718, Blackbeard blockaded the port of Charleston, stopping and ransacking every ship that sailed in or out of the harbor and taking members of their crew hostage. Blackbeard sent a message to the government of South Carolina, telling them that, if they didn't send a chest full of expensive medicine, the prisoners would be decapitated and their ships would be burnt. The medicine was handed over and Blackbeard held up his side of the bargain, releasing the hostages and sailing away. One month later, Blackbeard was forced to abandon Queen Anne's Revenge and switch to a smaller ship, the Adventure, after it ran aground. In September, 1717, British King George I proclaimed the Act of Grace, a pardon for any pirate who surrendered before September of the following year. Hornigold, Bonnet and Blackbeard all accepted this pardon. Hornigold ended up becoming a pirate hunter, sent to take out his former comrades; he died in a shipwreck in 1719. When Bonnet left to go get his pardon, Blackbeard looted the Revenge and marooned crew members loyal to Bonet on an island without food or water. Furious, Bonnet rescued his crew and set out for revenge, calling himself Captain Thomas and the Revenge the Royal James to hide the fact he'd returned to piracy. He was captured and hanged before he could get his revenge.

A SPRINGTIME FENCE FIXING DAY AT THE CREEK WOULD HAVE BEEN SO MUCH MORE PLEASANT IF IT HADN'T BEEN

FOR FIXING FENCE.

Blackbeard accepted a pardon, retired to a life of leisure, and then went back to piracy a few weeks later. British naval Lieutenant Robert Maynard was sent by the governor of Virginia to put an end to Blackbeard. Maynard tracked Blackbeard to Ocracoke Island, off the coast of North Carolina, and approached the Adventure with two ships, the Jane and the Ranger. Maynard spoke with Blackbeard, telling him he would be taken, either dead or alive. Blackeard responded by asking his crew for a glass of wine, saying he would be damned if he either took or gave quarter, and opening fire with the Adven-ture's canons. The cannonballs tore apart the Ranger, killing its commander and wounding its crew, causing it to fall behind as the Jane and the Adventure sailed down the channel. As Blackbeard's cannonballs ripped through them, the crew of the Jane managed to get in a lucky shot, severing the line holding the Adventure's sail up, causing it to crash into a sandbar.

The gunfire stopped. The smoke cleared. Blackbeard gazed over at the deck of the Jane and saw no movement. Assuming his enemies were dead, Blackbeard boarded the Jane, falling right into Maynard's trap.

Maynard had ordered his men to hide below decks and play dead, hoping to catch the infamous pirate by surprise. Maynard and the crew burst from the hold, attacking Blackbeard. Blackbeard almost killed Maynard, but was shot five times and slashed twenty as the crew of the Jane ganged up on him. Blackbeard died, less than two years after his career of piracy began. The crew cut off Blackbeard's head and mounted it on a pole in Chesapeake Bay, as a warning to other pirates.

🎸 Jesus replied, 'The hour has come for the Son of Man to be glorified. Very truly I tell you, unless a kernel of wheat falls to the ground and dies, it remains only a single seed. But if it dies, it produces many seeds.' 9 9 John 12:23-24 NIV

s Easter approaches I am always drawn to the parallels A season approaches rain aways thawn to the paraleis selected approaches a season. In the same way that trees and other plants enter a state of suspended animation or apparent death in the winter, only to re-animate in the Spring, Jesus died in order to be reborn or resurrected three days after bis death. This is a great mystory which connect be explained. his death. This is a great mystery which cannot be explained scientifically, any more than science can really explain how life keeps coming back every Spring. But just as the buds on the trees and the flowers starting to peak out gives us hope that life goes on, so too does Easter give us hope that our lives go on.
Easter reminds us that there is a springtime of the soul. Death is not the end for us, but merely a new beginning where we are transformed into something greater. Jesus lives, and so do we.

Proposed constitutional amendment would require supermajority to raise income tax

By Robin Opsahl, Iowa Capital Dispatch

A Senate subcommittee moved forward with the second step in amending the state constitution on April 9 to require a two-thirds majority vote of the Legislature for income tax increases. Senate Study Bill 1221 is a follow-up from House Joint Resolution 2006, passed in 2024 with the same language. To amend the Iowa Constitution, lawmakers must pass the amendment language in two consecutive general assemblies, before the measure goes before voters on a general election ballot for final approval. If the measure is approved in the 2025 or 2026 legislative session, the amendment will appear on Iowans' ballots in the Nov. 5, 2026 election.

Several advocates spoke in favor of the legislation at the subcommittee meeting, saying that it will provide more certainty to individuals and businesses that their taxes will not increase. Opponents argued the measure will limit state lawmakers' ability to respond to financial crises.

Mike Owen with Common Good Iowa, a progressive policy organization, said he was opposed to the measure not only because "it puts the thumb on the scale for bad tax policy," but because it violates the "basic principle of one person, one vote," giving significantly more power to lawmakers who oppose tax increases.

"That 17 senators could block the will of 133 other legislators and the governor is absurd," Owen said. "That would be the case if the twothirds requirement were made the other way, to lower taxes, or for any other policy matter to come before you. Locking in decisions now by representatives and senators who are elected for only two- and four-year terms disrespects future legislators and future voters who choose them, for years to come."

Sen. Cindy Winckler, D-Davenport, who did not sign off on the bill, said the Iowa Legislature has always been "very judicious" in making tax policy decisions since she took office. However, she said Iowa, alongside the rest of the country, is in "uncharted waters" with cuts to federal aid and economic volatility caused by tariffs. Federal financial uncertainties, combined with Gov. Kim Reynolds' budget proposal for fiscal year 2026 being higher than projected state revenues, show the need for Iowa lawmakers to have the ability to make the best tax decisions for Iowa.

"This causes me great concern, and I don't necessarily think this is the time that we would pass something like this, that would take away one of the tools that we currently have," Winckler said. "Always, we are very careful in increasing any kind of cost to Iowans. But we need to have the tools in the event that we need them."

Tyler Raygor with Americans for Prosperity, a conservative organization, said the measure was a "prudent safeguard" for Iowa taxpayers. He said when tax increases may be necessary, he believed Iowa lawmakers would be able to reach a consensus, pointing to the deal reached in March 2020 to keep the state government funded during COVID-related shutdowns.

"In emergencies, we believe the Legislature can work together if it ever was necessary to raise taxes," he said. "But in the event that it is, we think having a broad consensus requiring two-thirds is prudent."

Raygor also pushed back against comments that the proposed constitutional amendment would unfairly restrict future lawmakers' actions.

Jake Highfill with Iowans for Tax Relief was among other supporters of the measure who said amending Iowa's constitution is a difficult process when compared to other states like California that allow ballot initiatives, meaning the measure will be difficult to reverse in the

"Something like this will outlive all of us," Highfill said, calling the proposed constitutional amendment "one of the best policies you guys are going to pass this General Assembly.'

Schultz,

R-Schleswig, and Rocky De Witt, R-Lawton, voted to advance the bill. It will need approval by the full Ways and Means Committee before it advances to the Senate floor. "I think people are waiting to vote on this, and it's our job to get it to them on a ballot," Schultz said.

In 2024, the original version of the amendment also included language that would have enshrined a flat income tax rate in the state constitution — preventing future lawmakers from returning to a graduated tax rate system that places a higher income tax rate on people with higher incomes. This proposal gained approval last year as a separate measure, Senate Joint Resolution 2004. Sen. Dan Dawson, R-Council Bluffs, said in 2024 these measures were separated so Iowans would have the opportunity to weigh in on both proposals as independent items on a ballot. The proposed amendment requiring Iowa to have a single rate income tax has not been filed so far this session — it would also have to be passed by the lawmakers during the current general assembly to make it on to the

COUNTRY GIRL'S CORNER

Tulips & Daffodils

By Sheryl L. Carter

Isn't "daffodil" such a lovely word? "Tulips" are, too. And we are seeing them! The last couple of days of warm sun have made each of those plants plus the myriad of blue bells and white bells come out of their dwarf state, and shoot right up in full-leaved and flowered splendor. They are tons of them out there in my yard and they spread every year. If you would like a start, I can supply that need. We dug a couple of plants out many years ago on a family woods walk, and they have proliferated.

This week, as I write this on Sunday afternoon, April 13, began cloudy and chilly. Monday I wrote out the bills, then drove over to Knoxville to see my holistic provider. I was only going to grab a bottle of meds, and get back home, but she unexpectedly could take me in for a consult, so it wasn't until sometime later I was headed back home with a little bag of different holistic medsherbals, biologics, and homeopathic. I will start slow and see how my body reacts. I knew things were going on, plus have gained some unexpected weight, and have honestly been feeling like a slug.

On Tuesday I ate carefully all day. No gluten, no sugar, do my Classical Stretch workout faithfully, which is so good to move lymph to where it should be, and get some of this to change in the right direction. I can do it. That afternoon I made a big pot of delicious meaty chili, and instead of crackers (gluten) had celery sticks and cheese slices. Pretty good stuff

On Wednesday I cleaned up the house—all in one day! So guess I am feeling some better, eh? That evening was our last Women of Grace Bible Study at church for this season, and we had a full table of wonderful girls.

Thursday I drove to Newton to see my eye dr. for my regular check up. I was all ready to say, yes, let's take off the cataract in my right eye, but his response was that I actually needed a lens change.

After that, I met two good friends at Uncle Nancy's for lunch and a good visit, picked up a few groceries and home.

Friday I drove to Pella to check out Vision for Less, but their price for new lenses with my prescription was quite high, so I got on 163 and headed up to Costco in Ankeny. Their cost with everything I need? $220. I left my glasses there to have new lenses put in the existing frames, as I still love that frame, and will pick them up in a week or so. I drove home without glasses, but took the country way, so it was quieter and better for me than inter-

As I drove into Sully, I noticed a few garage sale signs—then it hit me—this was garage sale weekend! I had been tired after traveling over a 100 miles, but was suddenly revived, got a little cash at the ATM, and began to shop around. I did find some nifty stuff here and there. Garage sales are so fun.

The next morning was more sales, but I was on the road back to Pella early to get a spare pair of glasses with new lenses so I could see! Man, I couldn't read a thing. The kind young lab tech put just the basic prescription in a cheapy pair of frames and I was good to go. At least I can see!

When I returned home, Fremont friends Greg and Jackie Perkins, were parked beside my driveway, and I soon had a pot of coffee on so we could sit around the kitchen table and chat. After they left, I checked my directions that I had written a couple days ago, and headed Jazzy out NW of town to the new Farmer's Wife, which Bonnie Terpstra has set up on her family farm out in the country. Not far away at all, and I must bring my friends!

Bonnie and her family have done a really wonderful job building a beautiful party barn for events and family gatherings, and just a few steps away is another large building that houses the new country Farmer's Wife. Bonnie had her city Farmer's Wife in Newton for many years, but has now moved to the family homestead. I walked in and was amazed it's her store all over again in a great new venue. You have to get over there and see it!

Get on Facebook and find her page, more information is there. Her address is 7198 E. 36th St. South. The farm is just a few miles NE of Reasnor, and only about 12 miles from Sully. Bonnie is open the second and last week ends of every month, Thursday-Saturday, 10-4 p.m. The place is just packed with lovely and interesting things for our homes, and the spacious party barn features a grouping of comfy chairs and a sofa just inside the door for visiting, plus a coffee bar that serves lattes from 11 to 1 p.m. Doesn't this whet your appetite? It does mine, and I want to go back soon with some good buddies.

So today, being Sunday, I was up and ready to leave for 9 a.m. Sunday school, when I noticed Pippi wasn't her usual spiffy little self. A closer look revealed a swollen infected cheek. By the time I got home two hours later, she had declined that quick. I contemplated waiting until Monday to see our local vet, but she was not doing so well, so I took her over to Grinnell for an emergency visit. These two clinics work hand and hand, and I was very grateful there was a vet on call.

The vet checked her over, found the swollen area was an abscess, and her temp was 104 degrees. She wouldn't have done well to wait 24 hours. He gave her two shots, one for comfort and fever, and a strong, long-acting antibiotic. Several hours later I checked her, and she was feeling so much better already. Wow. Very glad I took her in, even though you pay extra through the nose, er, paw, with weekend visits.

Well, that about wraps it up for now, see you next time! Enjoy the spring!

MAHASKA COUNTY NEWS

OFF THE VINE

By Jackie Perkins

Monday, April 2025...1:16 a.m. I don't think sleep is going to come soon, so might as well give this writing a try. I went to Larry and Dixie's, just a few doors up from us, this evening for a little visit. Also to return a few things I borrowed from her last week. It is really wonderful to have neighbors like this. I had committed gooseberry pies to the Blakesburg Historical Society, and I could not believe that I needed sugar! I thought I had at least another bag, but no I did not. Sent Greg to borrow three cups. Later in the evening when I got ready to make the crusts, I was also out of vinegar, and I don't think this has ever happened before, but I also needed salt! So back to the Maudlins Greg went. I was quite glad when that project was completed!

There was no school on Friday and Greg's been itching to get his radish seed and several other things for the garden, so off we went to Cantril to the Dutchman's Store. Whenever I have thoughts of the store over there, I always relate it to the old store. I was thinking about going to that little corner with the seeds and filling the envelopes with teaspoons of seed and then writing the variety on the envelope. Dad always loved that, and one time we were busy packaging up the seed, and when we turned around...our cart with the bagged envelopes in it was gone! So now what? Do it all over again? One of the workers came by and we told him of our situation. He said that he would look around, and within a few minutes, he came back with our cart AND the seeds! Picked up a few other items before lunch at the Great Day Café in Keosauqua, and then on to Fairfield. Visited my Aunt Betty and took her some of her favorite coconut bon-bons. Remember them? Coconut covered by a coating in chocolate, white, lemon and strawberry...wonderful things! Grandma Beinhart loved coconut as well, so I can't help but thinking of her when I see them. It was a good day and the drive was very enjoyable.

Saturday was the day we traveled to Sully to check out their city wide garage sales. We went a couple years ago and found wonderful things...this year not so much. But the highlight was visiting with "The Country Girl", Sheryl Carter at her cozy cottage style home. I just love that look and so enjoyed sitting at her kitchen table, chatting. Her home reminds me of a face book post I have been following. I so enjoy Grandfluencer, Diane Shiffer. She has a vintage

"cottagey" home and films what she is up to. I love seeing her textiles, dishes, flowers while she tells of what she is up to. On Sunday she was featured on television, maybe CBS Sunday something. I missed it, but did see it on facebook later in the day. In Lynnville we stopped by a garage sale and met Jim and Marilyn. They were in the process of tearing down, but we had a look and had a very nice visit. Through conversation, we found that they play BINGO at the VFW on Wednesdays. We had been thinking about taking in some games, so maybe we will see them again in coming weeks. By the way, Hedrick will have their final BINGO night on Saturday, the 19th.

We ended the big day at the steak night at the VFW with friends meeting us there. It was yummy, and again the visiting was great.

We ended up the big day at the steak night at the VFW with friends meeting us there. It was yummy, and again the visiting was great.

again the visiting was great. It looks like once again a busy week is ahead! So much to do! The sorting continues, and today I went through two junk drawers! Found lots things that are now in various containers...and lots of writing instruments, many of which probably don't work. Perhaps Greg can sort through them one of these times. I found three compasses! You know those little contraptions with a pointed part and you clip in a pencil to make circles and dissect angles. Now why would I have three of those? Tonight I went through magazines, tore out things I like and will send them away. I had lots of County Living magazines and they used to be so wonderful! I have decided to keep some of the old issues, but newer ones are way less interesting and I decided to no longer subscribe. Kind of sad after about forty years.

While walking home from the neighbors, I remembered that this was the night we were to see a Pink Full Moon. Yep! There it was and it was really Full I didn't really see the pink at first, but looked a while and it appeared to be a peachy color to me. Did you

ISU Extension in Keokuk County hosts Iowa Farmers Market Nutrition Program Training on April 30, 2025

Iowa State University Extension and Outreach in Keokuk County is proud to announce a partnership with the Iowa Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship (IDALS) to host an Iowa Farmers Market Nutrition Program (FMNP) vendor training on April 30, 2025 at 9:00 AM. This training is for fruit and vegetable growers, as well as honey producers, who sell their products at farmers markets, and is the initial step toward FMNP certification, a requirement for farmers who wish to accept FMNP vouchers.

The Iowa FMNP, administered by IDALS with support from the Iowa Department of Health and Human Services, is vital in supporting local farmers and providing access to fresh, locally grown produce for eligible seniors and WIC families. In 2024, over 14,000 seniors and 30,000 mothers and children in Iowa received FMNP vouchers, contributing to the certification of more than 600 farmers at 125 farmers markets and 100 farmstands. Certified farmers saw an average increase of $1,800 in sales through FMNP participation.

The training will take place at the Iowa State University Extension and Outreach office in Keokuk County, located at 400 220th Ave Suite A, on April 30, 2025, at 9:00 AM. Attendance is free, but preregistration is mandatory. For registration and further details, please contact Emily Belvel at ebelvel@iastate.edu or 641-622-2680.

Anna Hadley

Pekin junior Anna Hadley has been named the Athlete of the Week for the week of April 7.

Hadley continued to throw well during a pair of track meets last week. On April 8 Hadley was able to win both the girls discus and girls shot put events at a track meet held in Davis County. Her winning discus throw of 126-feet bested her closest competition by over 12 feet.

On Friday at a meet hosted by Clear Creek-Amana Hadlev again won both the shot put and discus events.

The News-Review would like to congratulate Hadley on her four wins.

Solon Yates Sigourney junior golfer So-lon Yates is the Athlete of the Week for the week of April 7.

In his season opening golf meet held on April 10, Solon Yates was able to golf a complete round of 37.

With last Thursday's meet being the first meet of the season for the year, Yates was able to come out and knock any rust off his clubs for a terrific first round of golf on the year.

The News-Review would like to congratulate Yates on being named the Athlete of the Week, and for his great opening round of play.

Sigourney takes down Belle Plaine in season-opening golf meet

By Mark Schafer | The News Review

SIGOURNEY - Home course advantage seemed to come in handy in the season opening meet.

Knowledge of the Sigourney Golf Club course wasn't the sole reason why Sigourney bested Belle Plane, but it did play a factor. The Savages were able to win by nearly 100 strokes in the season opening meet taking the dual 157-249. The top six scores all belonged to the Savages. Solon Yates started off his

Sigourney girls golf claims victories over Keota, Belle Plaine | S-K soccer falls in back-to-back games

By Mark Schafer The News-Review

SIGOURNEY - Blustery winds and a threat of rain only seemed to help the Savage girls play better last week.

The Savages were able to win both of their meets last week. On Tuesday the Savages bested Keota 218-252 in a meet held in Keota.

At that event the medalist honor went to Keota's Lainey Swanson who returned to the clubhouse with 49 strokes needed to finish the course. Runner-up medalist honors belonged to Sigourney's Adalynne Tremmel. She finished with a total of 50 strokes on her scorecard.

Emily Conger of Keota finished third with 54 strokes. Kayla Renner from Sigourney recorded a 55. Hannah Hanselman finished with 56 strokes. Ella Bruns had 57 strokes, while Reagan Clarahan recorded 60 strokes.

Keota's Brynn Conrad and Kaylee Kindred had a 70 and a 79 respectively on their scorecards.

Thursday, the Savages were golfing at home where they faced blustery winds and a constant threat of rain.

Although wind seemed to blow the rain away it didn't slow down the Savages as they won the top medalist honors, and the meet 216-0 (Belle Plaine didn't have enough golfers to have a team score).

Tremmel once again had the best score for the Savages as she finished with 47 strokes. Ella Bruns was second with 56 strokes. Ella Fineran also recorded 56 strokes.

Reagan Clarahan was fourth with 57 strokes. Kayla Renner and Hannah Hanselman both recorded 60 strokes each.

Sigourney will host Montezuma on Thursday afternoon.

Cobras still finding footing in early part of the season

By Mark Schafer The News-Review SIGOURNEY – A gauntlet would be a lot easier than the schedule they've faced. Excuses would be easy to make for the Sigourney-Keota soccer team, especially after the week of games they faced.

On April 8 the Cobras fell 4-0 to an undefeated Highland team. April 11 the Cobras came home for the first time this season, but fell 6-1 to an undefeated Central Lee

It'd be easy for the Cobras to point at their schedule and blame the short comings in those games on their undefeated opponents. But that's not what head coach Alex Holt and the rest of the team is doing. Instead, they are using the games to work out what they need to be success-

"We are showing a lot of heart in the games," Holt said after the 6-1 defeat on Friday night. "We are playing really good defense, we just need to find ways to generate some good offense."

In both games last week the Cobras were able to have some great defensive efforts.

Junior goalie Ty Goldman was challenged with 18 shots in the game against Highland. He was faced with 23 shots on Friday night.

"We are getting great play out of Ty Goldman in the goal," Holt said. "Central Lee is really good at finishing around the shots, but Goldman was able to take them out of their shots early on and we've seen a lot of great growth from Goldman early on in the season." The one thing that has been absent from the Cobras early on in the season is their ability to generate offense. That changed early on against Central Lee.

After the Hawks scored two goals to get the lead the Savages went on the attack late in the first half.

"Addison Purkeypile really set up the goal by Aydin Flowers," Holt said. "She was able to get a great touch off a header and sent a nearly perfect pass to Aydin who had to dribble around a couple of defenders before he fired it in. He took his time and understood the situation and was able to gather the ball and shoot it in. We've been coaching him on that, so it was great to see that he was listening.' Flowers was able to score the goal midway through the first half and cut the deficit down to just one goal with a little more than one half of the game remaining.

Central Lee responded by scoring two more goals in the first half to hold a 4-1 halftime lead. The Cobras held Central Lee to just two goals in the second half.

"Our defense really did a great job throughout the second half and Ty really anchored us in goal. Both of those were huge things we can improve on as we prepare for even tougher games ahead

Strong defensive second halves have become the norm for the Cobras over the last few games. In their April 8 game the Cobras gave up three goals in the first half, but just one in the second

Although they gave up two goals in the second half against Central Lee the Cobras continued to show strength defensively by stopping many Central Lee shots.

The Cobras fall to 0-5 this season. Thursday they will be home again as they host Highland for a rematch.

Discussion/Possible Action - Continued decision and comparison of quotes on a replacement Water Truck. - Discussion was made on the state of the current water truck. It would cost $10K to replace the motor on the truck. After further discussion, it was decided that moving forward with purchasing a new vehicle and a vehicle that would accommodate a snow plow now rather than 2 years down the road makes more sense. After looking at the bids presented by Harmsen and discussing the options, the motion was made to go forward with the $50,661.00 quote from Vaughn Motors. Motion made by Conrad, 2nd by Bender and all were in favor.

Mayor Comments: Mayor Cans-ler stated that it has been a rough couple of weeks for our community. Our hearts are with the Tinnes and McNurlen families. To Mr. Ackerman, the Mayor stated that if he would like to jot down his concerns on an actual piece of paper and not a torn piece of cardboard and turn it in to the city administrator's office to give it to the mayor, then he would view the comments and respond to them.

Public Forum: Joel Ackerman -204 N Hamilton St - Shared that he felt there was a hearing and conversations about him without his being made aware of them. He stated that he was being harassed by some council members and that a hearing now would be a "clown circus", before becoming belligerent. Mayor Cansler had to ask him to calm down and let him speak for his allotted 2 minutes before sharing that he was out of time. Department Reports: Public Works - Harmsen reported they finished up our portion of the sidewalk project at the new clinic on March 28th . B&L finished their work April 2nd . The ballfield clean up was march 23rd . Thanks to a big crowd on a windy day, we were able to get both ball fields cleaned up and ready for the season. They spend some time on Carpenter St property cleaning it up and mowing and mulching. They also did some fertilizing last week along with some lawn rolling with nicer weather. They did spend some time getting bids together for the new water truck after talking to the council. They started working on the last removal of the rest of concrete at the RV Park late last week. We hope to have that finished tomorrow and start haling in dirt this week. We talked to Alliant Energy and Olinger electric about getting new service for the RV park. We will be spending quite a bit of time down there in the coming weeks to get the sight prepared for concrete work and then finalize grading and running other utilities. The tree dump continues to be busy. Harmsen reached out to Spectra today to get them nailed down on finalization of the pool. He hopes to have all signage on hand to barricade the street between the ball field and pool area next week.

Library- Librarian Greiner shared that We have had a great response for donations for the Summer Reading Program, Fun Fridays and coffee are still going great. Quilting is done until fall. We will be having a book sale Friday and Saturday along with the city-wide garage sales. And I will contact Kuensters to have the AC checked on.

Clerk - Horras shared that the KCCEF Grant Award ceremony is April 17th and here at the Holy Trinity Church Hall. Horras has the sandwiches and drinks ordered for this event as agreed to with Kathy Davis. Horras worked with Tammy Hollingsworth and the State auditor committee to get an extension on the FY24 audit in order to allow us to work on FY22, 23, and 24 within the coming few months. The next day care meeting at the school will be held on Tuesday, April 15th. Horras stated that she and Clarke got the letters out to residents that needed to address issues with their property not following the ordinance. The code enforcer went through town and made a list of properties that needed attention and letters have gone out to them in time for city wide clean up. City Wide garage sales are April 11th and 12th and the Cleanup is 18th and 19th. Horras has worked with Councilmen Burroughs and McDonald on Ordinance changes to our Water Rates that we will discuss next. Horras has started getting items ordered for the pool start up and will work with Harmsen to get them down to the pool to be put away. There were 2 rolling carts that were ordered for use at the pool this year. These are open metal grated carts with the ability to lock them, that all the water aerobics and training equipment can be stored in. These can be rolled out onto the pool deck in the morning and moved into the hallway in the evening to remove the clutter from the storage room. In working with the Keota Aquatic Foundation, they have agreed to cover the cost of these carts and are reimbursing the city for the expense. Thank you to that great organization! Horras has been working with KCTC and Cloudburst on new phone carrier options that are more cost effective. In looking at and comparing the costs, she has decided to change from Windstream to Cloudburst as our carrier at the Library,

City Hall and the Sewer Plant. Hor-

A Night to Remember: English Valleys Prom 2025 Brings Rustic Charm

English Valleys High School held its annual prom on Saturday, April 5, transforming the competition gym into a rustic, rodeo-themed wonderland. The event was made possible through the hard work and creativity of Mrs. Luetje, Mrs. Davidson, and the junior class, who spent hours preparing the space for the evening's festivities.

The night began with a promenade, where students showcased their formal wear to an enthusiastic crowd of parents and community members. Cheers and camera flashes filled the air as attendees celebrated the special occasion. During the promenade, Hallie Heasty and Declan Patterson were crowned the 2025 English Valleys Prom Queen and King —a highlight of the evening, met with loud applause and

Following the promenade, students hit the dance floor to enjoy a night of music and celebration. A beverage and snack bar was located just behind the dance area, offering water, soft drinks, and light refreshments throughout the evening.

When prom concluded, students boarded school buses and headed to Malibu Jack's in the Quad Cities for an After Prom event, sponsored by PACE. The trip to Malibu Jack's was reimbursed by Compass Memorial, and students traveled safely with two of English Valleys' experienced bus drivers. Everyone received a commemorative t-shirt to mark the occasion, featuring the After Prom sponsors. In addition to the trip, each junior received a $50 Visa gift card, while seniors were gifted $100 Visa gift cards as part of the celebration.

Overall, it was a memorable evening filled with fun, laughter, and community spirit.

The Spring Play

THE PRESIDENT'S NEW CLOTHES

Mrs. Edwards and crew presented the play, "The President's New Clothes" on April 4 and 5, 2025. The cast consisted of Owen Morris, Luke Moeller, Emily Mahan, Emmy Moeller, Dakota Dodd, Kennedy Jackson, Elyse Lyle, Peyton Baughman, Addyson Chapman, Grayson Sprouse, Emily Conger, Brynn Conrad, Kaylee Kindred, Ella Greiner, and Tucker Sprouse with the curtain. The play was based on "The Emperor's New Clothes," and they learned that it is what's on the inside that matters.

SK SOCCER KICKS OFF

The Sigourney-Keota soccer team had an unfortunate loss against the Waco Warriors, with the score being Sigourney-Keota 1 and Waco Warriors 4. This game was led off with a poor start early on with starter Chase Haifley getting a red card, which kept him from playing the rest of the game. Although Chase Haifley could not return to the game, Sigourney-Keota has improved from last year when they lost by 7 points. This game was close at the beginning, with Sigourney-Keota only being down 2-0 by the end of the first half. The game then started getting further out of control with the Waco Warriors scoring another 2 goals in the second half. To bring the score to 1 and to keep the team from being skunked. Wells Clark then scored a goal with thirty-six seconds left in the game.

JUNK OR JEWEL?

This week's junk or jewel is Elyse Lyle's 1999 Grand Prix. It has around 180,000 miles on it. Elyse's favorite memory was when the car started smoking and smelling like it was going to blow up. Her car can fit 4 people comfortably other than the driver. A cool thing about the car is that it has a Monte Carlo engine in it. She named her car "A black piece of metal," because that's all it is. Elyse says "It has great acceleration and is fun to drive." Elyse says, "my car is bent in half pretty much and doesn't work very well." Another fun fact is that Elyse's mom,

Jill, had the car her senior year of high school and it has been passed down through a lot of cousins and has finally landed in Elyse's hands. you think Elyse's car is junk or a jewel?

STUDENT OF THE WEEK

This week's student of the week is Ella Greiner. She has an older brother, Garrett (17), and a dog named Layne. Ella is involved in 4-H, FFA, basketball, volleyball, student council, livestock judging, and speech. Her favorite memory while at KHS is when the junior high basketball team played hide and seek around the school. When Ella grows up, she would like to do something related to agriculture. Her favorite class is Eagle Advisory. In her free time, she likes to hang out with friends and show sheep. Ella is looking forward to no school and getting tan as summer approaches. If she could go on vacation anywhere in the world, she would choose Italy because it is pretty. We wish Ella a great rest of the school year!

Walleye netting season starts for Iowa DNR fish hatcheries

By: Jay Rudacille, Iowa DNR Warm and Coolwater Fish Culture Supervisor

MORAVIA - The late night, annual walleye collection has begun at Rathbun and Storm lakes and will begin in the next few days at East Okoboji and Spirit lakes.

Crews with the Iowa Department of Natural Resources Fisheries Bureau set gillnets at night in traditional areas looking for walleyes that are ready to spawn.

This time of year, hatcheries operate into the wee hours of the morning as local staff bring in the nightly haul well past midnight. As fish "ripen," the eggs are removed from the walleyes and the fish are returned to the lake where they were caught to make room for the next night's catch.

The goal is to collect enough fish to hatch 114 million walleye fry that will supply Iowa lakes and fish hatcheries.

Secretary Naig Invites Students to Enter the 2025 Choose Iowa Calendar Contest

Contest winners will be honored at the 2025 Iowa State Fair and will have their artwork published in a popular coloring calendar

DES MOINES, Iowa – Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Mike Naig is inviting school-aged Iowa students to participate in the 2025 Choose Iowa Calendar Contest. Choose Iowa is the state's signature brand for Iowa grown, raised and made food, beverages and ag products and it is a marketing initiative of the Iowa Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship.

"The Choose Iowa Coloring Calendar Contest offers school-aged students a fun opportunity to highlight Iowa agriculture and its incredible importance to our state," said Secretary Naig. "I encourage students to share their original artwork for a chance to be featured and published in this popular annual coloring calendar. I invite parents, teachers, or grandparents to help your student get their artwork submitted this spring, and I can't wait to celebrate the talented students who are selected at the 2025 Iowa State Fair."

Submitted artwork should feature at least one aspect of Iowa agriculture, with an emphasis on food, beverages, livestock, or crop production, including horticulture. Submissions will be judged on creativity and connections to agriculture in everyday life. Entries are due June 1 at 12:00 p.m. and winners will be announced at the 2025 Iowa State Secretary Naig will recognize the winning artists during a special awards ceremony on Tuesday, August 12 in the Agriculture Building at the 2025 Iowa State Fair. Winning submissions will also be included in the 2025/2026 Choose Iowa calendar distributed by the Department during the Iowa State Fair and online at ChooseIowa.com.

School-aged Iowa students up to 18-years-old are invited to participate. Pictures should be drawn on plain white, 8.5 by 11-inch paper in a horizontal orientation using only black lines. The pictures should not be colored in. For creative inspiration, the 2024/2025 calendar may be viewed here.

Entries can be submitted via the form found on the Choose Iowa website, emailed to chooseiowa@iowaagriculture. gov or mailed to the Iowa Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship, Attn: Coloring Calendar, 502 E. 9th St., Des Moines, Iowa, 50319.

If mailed, each submission should include the registration sheet with basic information about the artist, including the artist's name, age, grade, school, hometown as well as the name, email and phone number of a parent or guardian. If the artwork is submitted by the student's teacher, then the teacher's name and contact information should be included.

To be eligible for consideration, artwork submissions must be received by the Department by noon on June 1, lowa's spring turkey season is here

By: Jim Coffey, Forest Wildlife Research Biologist, Iowa Department of

Natural Resources A mild winter followed by timely spring rains has Iowa forests and woodlots leafing out ahead of spring turkey season, possibly tipping the playing field in favor of the gobblers, after a record harvest of more than 16,000 birds in 2024.

The first of Iowa's four regular spring turkey seasons opens on April 14.

"We are greening up ahead of schedule," said Jim Coffey, forest wildlife research biologist with the Iowa Department of Natural Resources (DNR). "For anyone hunting second season or later, it could be a jungle out there."

Winter turkey flocks are breaking up and birds are spreading across the landscape. Turkey production has been above the five-year average for three of the past four years, providing good numbers of birds, especially twoyear-old jakes.

"Jakes will usually respond to calls more easily than toms and have been known to come in in groups - if a group of jakes come in, make sure you have a clean shot at one bird," Coffey said.

Although Iowa has set spring turkey harvest records twice since 2020, Coffey said it's important to remember that historically, only one in five hunters will tag a bird.

"Success should be determined by time spent outside, watching the sunrise as the timber comes alive around you, the experience in the woods, not by bagging a turkey," he said. "Spring turkey hunting is a close, intimate sport, where the excitement is happening in less than 30 yards. And with the early leaf out this year, it could be even closer."

To improve the chances of bagging a turkey, Coffey said hunters should go through their equipment to make sure it all works and gear still fits before hiking into the timber on opening morning. He also said that the ticks are already out so plan accordingly.

Iowa's first of four turkey seasons opens on the second Monday in April each year, and this year, that's the middle of April, aligning turkey hunting with mushroom hunting season.

"If we get rain and a little heat - it should be a good year for mushroom hunting which also means we need to be aware of other people in the woods - hunters need to identify their bird, make sure it has a beard, and what's beyond it," Coffey said.

One final tip, Coffey said don't overlook Iowa's smaller woodlots, as they are typically good places to hunt.

Successful hunters are required to report their harvest

Turkey hunting success

by midnight of the day after it is recovered by going online at www.iowadnr.gov, calling the toll free phone number printed on the tag, at any license vendor during regular business hours, by texting your registration number to 1-800-771-4692 or through the Go Outdoors Iowa app.

"Best way for turkey hunter to help with conservation is to report your harvest," he said. Youth-only season is April

Youth turkey season is designed to provide a strong mentoring experience for the youth hunter. It is restricted to Iowa residents only.

"Turkey hunting is an intimate sport and mentoring is a way to learn from other's mistakes," Coffey said. "With only about one-in-five hunters tagging a turkey, failure is part of the process. A successful hunt should be gauged on the adventure and experience of being in the woods not placing a tag on a bird."

Youth tags are sold through the end of youth season on April 13. Youth tags are valid for youth season and each of the four regular seasons until filled or when the season four closes on May 18.

Licenses are not sold after the youth season closes.

2025 spring turkey season dates

Youth Season, residents only, age 15 and younger April 11-13

Season 1 - April 14-17

Season 2 - April 18-22 Season 3 - April 23-29

Season 4 - April 30 - May 18

The youth season license is good until filled, but it must be purchased before the youth season closes.

Around 50,000 turkey licenses will be purchased this year. Hunters may purchase two turkey tags, with at least one for season four. Shooting hours are one half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Researchers update tool to help Iowa farmers select cover crop varieties

By: Cami Koons

A free, online tool that helps farmers evaluate cover crop species based on things like county, production goals and drainage situation has been updated to reflect new research in the field.

Iowa's data for the Midwest Cover Crops Council cover crop decision tool, which was last revised in 2019, was updated to include 13 new cover crop species, more recent seeding dates that are accurate to county-level climate data and reviewed ratings of species for the area.

Elizabeth Ripley, the conservation and cover crop outreach specialist with Iowa Learning Farms, said the tool not only recommends cover crop varieties to farmers, but also gives them a detailed sheet on potential challenges, seeding and termination requirements.

"There's a lot of information out there, and this is a great way to compare species directly, based on producer goals," Ripley said.

Ripley said the tool does not analyze cost, but said it can be a good way for farmers to learn about different species and start conversations with their local Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) office about cost share programs.

Cover cropping is a sustainable agriculture practice of seeding between cash crops to keep roots and nutrients in the soil. Depending on variety, the crops can help to break up the soil, add nutrients like nitrogen, or even serve as grazing material for livestock. Farmers will often use programs like the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Environmental Quality Incentives Program, or EQIP, program to offset some of the costs of adding a cover crop to their operation. The Iowa Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship also incentivizes the practice with a program that reduces crop insurance premiums on cover cropped

According to an Iowa Nutrient Research & Education Council survey, nearly 4 million acres of corn and soybean cropland were planted with a cover crop in the 2023 crop year, which is more than double what was planted in 2017.

Cover crops and reduced tillage practices are viewed as important elements in reducing nutrient runoff and soil loss from cropland. The decision tool, hosted by Midwest Cover Crop Council, was updated with input from researchers, agency staff, seed dealers, farmers and other organizations.

Ripley said it was important to expand the list of cover crop species to make sure Iowa farmers had relevant research to consult when considering new seed mixtures.

"Those were added in to be options, or at least to provide recommendations for folks that may be hearing about these different species from folks using them across the Midwest," Ripley said.

The 13 new varieties include: forage cabbage, sugarbeet, phacelia, lentil, chickling vetch, balansa clover, sweetclover, faba bean, proso millet, foxtail millet, Japanese millet, pearl millet, and spring triti-

Each variety also has county-specific seeding guidelines which were updated with the most recent 30-year climate normal.

Ripley said staff from Iowa State University and the state NRCS office will be hosting a webinar in late April with more information on the update, which will be posted at Iowa Learning Farms.

Secretary Naig Announces Record Number of Iowa Fuel Stations Receive Quarterly Biofuels Infrastructure Grants

As momentum continues to build behind expanded availability of E15, Iowans gain greater access to homegrown fuel that saved drivers $38.5 million in 2024

DES MOINES - Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Mike Naig announced today that the Iowa Renewable Fuels Infrastructure Program (RFIP) Board recently approved 114 project applications from Iowa gas stations, totaling more than $2.88 million, for new and expanded ethanol and biodiesel infrastructure projects. This sets a new quarterly record for the number of investments in biofuels projects. These investments help drivers save more money by providing expanded access to lower cost and cleaner burning homegrown biofuels. The grants were awarded by the RFIP Board during its quarterly meeting at the end of March.

New ethanol fueling infrastructure will be funded with the help of 112 RFIP costshare grants for E15 projects totaling $2,733,943.66 at gas The board also approved two biodiesel cost-share grants - one for retail and one for terminal storage - totaling $150,000. A complete list of state RFIP is added or upgraded to offer E15 and higher biofuel blends, Iowa drivers get another opportunity to save money at the gas pump. It's exciting to see the growing momentum in our state's biofuels industry, with our plants achieving record production, our drivers setting records for use, and more stations than ever using state cost-share funds to provide consumers with more fueling options," said Secretary Naig. "We're committed to sustaining this momentum for ethanol and biodiesel in Iowa. Biofuels are proven to save drivers money at the pump, bolster rural employment, expand markets for farmers, and help unleash American energy domi-

These state funded grants are in addition to the federal Incentive Program (HBIIP) grants recently announced by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Brooke Rollins during her visit to Iowa last week. HBIIP funding will incentivize 543 projects, totaling $537 million in 29 states, including Iowa.

Higher Blends Infrastructure

The grant announcements come at a time when biofuels usage continues to build momentum in Iowa, with E15 sales hitting another record in 2024. The Iowa Department of Revenue announced on April 3 that sales of E15 grew by 44 percent over 2023 sales, which had also been the previous yearly record. With 256.7 million gallons of E15 sold in Iowa in 2024 at an average discount of 15 cents per gallon compared to E10, Iowa drivers saved over $38.5 million last year by choosing E15 at the pump. Last year also represented a record year for the sale of B20 and higher blends of biodiesel, demonstrating that homegrown renewable energy continues to be popular when made available to consumers.

These investments are helping more gas stations come into compliance with the E15

Access Standard, which goes into full effect on Jan. 1, 2026. Iowa is the first state to enact an E15 Access Standard, which requires most fuel retailers and gas stations to offer E15 by Jan. 1, 2026. The law was passed by the Iowa Legislature and signed by Gov. Reynolds in 2022. For those convenience stores and gas stations that need assistance coming into compliance, the Iowa Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship can provide cost-share funding through the Renewable Fuels Infrastructure Program. Since the grant program began in 2006, the Department has invested approximately $56.6 million toward expanding renewable fuels infrastructure within Iowa. This has been matched with more than $260 million by Iowa gas stations and fuel retailers. With cost-share funding available, the Department welcomes grant applications to assist more fuel stations in improving and upgrading infrastructure. Applications are available at iowaagriculture. gov/IRFIP, and will be considered by the RFIP Board at an upcoming quarterly meeting.
